- Publication type: Journal article

- Author: Giocanti (Sylvia)
- Abstract: In compliance with skeptical tradition, Montaigne's insight about mistake takes over human experience of the existence of non-being, so that the biggest mistake consists in claiming what Truth is. The search for truth implies that mistake has been naturalized as "wandering". Then, a rational art of wandering can be thought as a social elaboration of truth, a constant adjustment of talk to the experience of people who live together.
