- Abstract: Beyond their design to serve as a medium of common names, the elements of the material and intellectual world are frequently defined by proper names and titles that function so as to individualize them. The cultural associations transmitted by these attributions tend above all to reflect a series of cultural interpretants (agents) that represent the culture of a region itself. This text proposes to enter the Mediterranean culture via its « pressonymes », by studying written Greek as used in newspapers and other works in print, particularly as these are integrated to form a dictionary.
