

Classiques Garnier

- Collections
- French literature
- Renaissance
- La Boétie Studies

Autodénaturation et semina virtutum La Servitude volontaire entre liberté et « déterminisme »

- Publication type: Article from a collective work
- Collective work:
Nature et naturel
. Autour du Discours de la servitude volontaire
- Author: Panichi (Nicola)
- Abstract: The call to freedom which marks the Discours clashes constantly with determinism : if the desire for freedom is natural, so is the chain of causation which deprives us of it. Seeking to conceptualise the break from causal determinism, Nicola Panichi demonstrates that if the Stoic seeds of virtue provide a way of articulating this break, it comes at the cost of a rupture with Stoicism, since according to La Boétie the sage must always resist the order of things.
- Pages: 71 to 89
- Collection: La Boétie Studies, n° 4
- CLIL theme: 4027 -- SCIENCES HUMAINES ET SOCIALES, LETTRES -- Lettres et Sciences du langage -- Lettres -- Etudes littéraires générales et thématiques
- EAN: 9782812435706
- ISBN: 978-2-8124-3570-6
- ISSN: 2262-0427
- DOI: 10.15122/isbn.978-2-8124-3570-6.p.0071
- Publisher: Classiques Garnier
- Online publication: 03-07-2015
- Language: French
- Display online