La mise en scène de la parole d'en haut à RomeRépublique finale / Haut-Empire

- Publication type: Article from a collective work
- Collective work: Paroles d'en haut
- Author: Suspène (Arnaud)
- Abstract: In its various forms, speech from on-high in Rome was generally inscribed in a particular space: the forum, the symbolic heart of the republican city. The transformations of this exceptional frame show that speech from on-high was at the heart of Roman political culture. When the Empire came, speech from on-high was maintained but transformed. The principal change was that the speech of the prince gradually asserted itself, and took on new functions.
